

Animal Communication for Children, Teens, and Adults: A book for families

This heart felt book gives all members of the family insight into animal communication. Written for all ages, its read best as a family effort. Narrated by Dr. Laurie Moore and a group of animals, the book takes your hand, leading you into understanding of animal heart-to-heart telepathic communication. This book is written family style. Think of it as a family book that can initiate discussion. The first section contains new vocabulary for the younger readers. Parents, teens, and older kids can help younger ones understand the words as you read together. The final section is very simple and meant for the very young children. There is room for kids to draw their own pictures. Younger children may surprise your family. Some will help you with actual understanding of animal communication from their own experiences! If the family isnt interested, or you like reading alone, go for it! This will be just as valuable.
