

To Love A Cat

2014 Readers Favorite Bronze Medal Award Winner From the author of Dogs Arent Men comes To Love a Cat, a contemporary romance novel. Catherine Cat James life is simple and orderly, and she likes it that way. She loves her job as an accountant. Working with numbers is safe and routine, no surprises. Her childhood had been very abusive and unstable. She vowed not to live that way as an adult. She also made a promise to herself to become a foster parent. She wished someone had been there for her as a teenager, to let her know she wasn't alone. Cat agrees to foster Ethan Summers, a troubled teenage boy whose childhood closely resembles her own. Suddenly, her nice and orderly life is filled with chaos and uncertainty. Things really start to spin out of control when circumstances bring police detective Mitch Holt into the picture. He's handsome, charming, and definitely not what Cat needs right now, or so she thinks.
